> The Emperor's Reply to the Address In raply to the address from the Legislative

The great majority of the Legislative Bode has confirmed once more, by the vote on the Address, the policy which has given us for fifteen years calm and prosperity. I thank you for it. Without allowing vourselves to be carried away by rain theories, which, under seducing appearunces, profess to be the only means favourable to the emancipation of human thought and enterprise, you have said to yourselves that we also wish to attain that and, in regulating our progress on the appearement of men's passions and on the nocessities of society. Is not our motire the general interest F And what attraction would therefore your election have for you and power for me, if separated from the desire to do good ! Could you authort so many long and painful labour if you were not animated by true patrictism? Should I have endured for eighteen years the burden of Government, the pre-un upation of every instant, and that heavy responsibility before God, as before the nation, if I did not find in myself the force which is given by a sentiment of daty and by the consciousness of a useful mission to fulfill (Lond applance.) Prince desires what we all wish for-sight lility, progress, and liberty—that liberty which developes intelligence; generous instincts, and the noble offerts of labour; and not the liberty, which closely allied to violence, excites evil passions destroys all religious faith, revives haired, and not that which becomes an arm to undermine it

" Fifteen years ago, nominal Chief of the State. without effectual power, without support in the Chamber, I dared-strong in my conscience and baye kept my word. (Loud cheers.) For Silver hand increasing. Her high destinies will be sethe work. I have for guarantee of what I have the sesistance of the great Bodies of the State, the devotedness of the army, the patriotism of all well-disposed eitisens, and, finally, what has naver fulled our country-Divine protection," (Land cheering and repeated ories of Five F Empereur !

Arrival of the Shanghai Mail. The Ganges with the Shanghei mails for Europe, and dat is to the 7th of May come in this morning. The news from the north is not of a striking character, but we make some extracts from the papers :-

An interesting and somewhat complicated case has just been decided by the Mixed Court, after beenpying four sittings. It was a counter-sotion. brought by four natives resident in the Booksh settlement against Chen Ping the author of an requestion, supposed to be false, upon which was esued the warrant reported upon by the Municipal Interpreter and Superintendent of Police at the last Lund-renters' meeting. The plaint consisted of three charges, viz. :---

1st. That Chen Fing did, previous to the publication of the Municipal Notification of Ceober 1885, regularly collect squeezes from the 2nd,-That they having, on the assurance of Municipal protection, refused to comply with his demands, he under a fletitious name brought a also charge against them.

3rd. - That he brought the yaman runners into the settlement with the warrant, and andeavoxed upon the strength of it to extert money from the be event of their refusing. The defendant was arrested at the instance of I. B. M. Consul, and after a most exceful investigation was found guilty and sentenced to fourteen lays imprisonment. An accomplice of Chen. Ping's was sentenced to fourteen days cangue. Papers received by the steamer Ganges mention an attempted attack by a drunken Japanese sollier on two English officers, which was fensteated by two of his comrades, who threw themselves ation him and restrained him. The Japanese antherities promptly enquired into the matter; a general parade of the native troops was held, and the culprit sentenced publicly to a year's impriminment, while the conduct of his comrades was commended. A mitigation of the penalty has con asked by the English minister at the instance of Colonel Brown, on the ground of the good unlarstanding which has existed between the English and notive troops. The resignation of office by hir. Lindau, who has hitherto held the post of Swiss (Jonaul, is recorded, and the anpointment in his stead of M. Brennwald. Mr factonald, senior assistant in the English Conpulate, has died of a paralytic stroke. Municipal ifficulties appear to attract considerable attenion, a deficiency of fun is being the most prominent. A code of fand Regulations applicable to the port is to be drawn up. The French Minister, iss given a liberal sum of money to the widow of he Japanese who was beheaded for being ourseemed in the death of a French sailor, and therey obviated the necessity for the public subscripion which it has been intended to get un.

It is within the distries of wint on that Honekong and he denemiencles stood prior to their carsion, and the whole Coast line for many miles adjacent is u. der the jurisdicti n of the Mandarin at Nam-ton. The Map is the result of four yours' labor, and # DIA BR & CLAUSSEN have received their is made entirely from the personal's isservations of the author. The dangers, the difficulties, and now on hand a large; and well selected Stock of the hard him which the work has involved, have been very great. "bo district is excessively mountainous and as occupier demonstration bad exclusively in all ones to be relied on, by reason of the worthlessness of native information, the faligno attending travel has been no light matter. The villagers entertain the lites that their mountains contain auriforous deposits, and are very ignious of foreign as extending them. The comargumen is that there is much difficulty in procuring the corrides of guides, and still more difficulty in obtaining correct information on any point. In fact the idea above alluded to proves a strong incentive to the conveyance of fulse in . formation, and excites resistance to the progress. of the travellar, besides creating great personal Under these circumstances this Map has been produced, and it has been suggested to the author thus it is a nity the result of so much labor. danger, and difficulty, should in these days of Mormon Marriages. It is a strange fact that no ouse should have Houses, Links, Tenentents, &c. fore that of " Hyde v. Hyde," which came tefore the Diverce Court in January last. So many young women have been tempted or entrapped into abandoning English homes for the half or third part of a hushand at the Sale Sake City, and have since found reason to ruo their infaluation that we can only explain the entire absence of precedents on the subject by supposing that few are happy enough to retrace their steps across the westes that divide the Mormon paradise from Christendom. In this instance it was] the husband, and not the wife, who sued for a dishe had committed adultery by going through the downs. It appeared that Mrs. Hyde if we may call her so without prejudice to the question of her legal status - had settled at Uteh in 1819 as Hawkins. The petitioner who had been a blor- and Out offices, water laid on, at present occupies Paris, arrived there in 1853, and in November of that year contracted the alleged marriage, which was celebrated in due form by Mr. Brigham young. The two lived together for two or three years as man and wife, and had children, and it was stated that Mr. Hyde had never availed him. salf of his right to marry other wives. At last he was deputed to go, without Mrs. 'llyde, on a' mission to the Sandwich Islands, but, on the way thicker his ey's were opened to the errors of Mormonism, and when he renched his destination he publicly renounced and presched against it. Therappen he was solemnly excommunicated at Bish, and a sentence of divorge was pronounced against him, declaring the bis pan be had. Charge moderate.
